• Have you ever found yourself knowing that what you’re saying isn’t working, but you’re not sure what else to do? • Do you experience times when your words don’t seem to be ‘landing’? Skillful communication can make or break business (and personal) relationships. It directly impacts productivity, efficiency and enjoyment in the work place; as well as your effectiveness as a leader. In this educational and humorous presentation with Professional Motivational Speaker, Clara Chorley, you will leave with a deeper understanding of how to maneuver through interactions (both challenging and day-to-day) with colleagues at all levels of the organization so that you experience greater confidence and success while developing lasting leadership skills. Master your communication and you increase trust, which changes the way others respond to you. Change the way others respond to you, and you’ll maximize the potential of your teams, inspire creative thought, and find yourself at the helm of an organization successful beyond your imagination.
